NON-FINAL OFFICIAL ACTION

Status of the Claims

Claims 1-8 and 11-19 are rejected under 35 USC §112, first paragraph.

Claims 9 and 10 are rejected under 35 USC §102.

Rejections under 35 USC §112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-8 and 11-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

These claims recite: the help list indicating values of said settings correctly applicable when the service or function is executed. The specification repeatedly discloses the help files as “an explanation of conceivable reasons why a service or function may be inoperable, presented in text form.” (page 5) At no point is indicating values of the settings, correct or incorrect presented. Help lists merely are the “error message” of the present invention, and not an intermediate diagnostic data structure. As this limitation drastically modifies the data flow and processing in the claims, and the Examiner is unable to understand how the invention can work as claimed, these claims are not able to be reasonably rejected against prior art. The specification was searched against the prior art, and results are used in the rejection of claims 9 and 10. Additional prior art is provided on form PTO-892.

Rejections under 35 USC §102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 9 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Siegel (United States Patent No. 6,782,345 B1).

As per claim 9, Siegel discloses:

A device that carries out a plurality of functions or services according to a plurality of settings, and has a help function, comprising:

a setting memory storing the settings used when each one of said functions or services is performed (column 6, lines 61-62 and column 5, lines 1-45 describe using the stored data cited as diagnostic data);

a searching unit for determining which function or service was being attempted when the device failed to operate correctly (column 7, lines 11-29: specifically a causal network works in this manner as a do a few of the others cited), and finding the settings, in the setting memory, corresponding to said function or service that was being attempted when the device failed to operate correctly (column 7, lines 11-29: all the cited diagnostics do this); and a prompting unit for prompting a modification of the settings found by the searching unit (column 8, lines 2-19).

As per claim 10, Siegel discloses:

an input unit for input of information by a user (column 10, line 31: a manual repair requires an input); and a modifying unit for modifying said settings according to the information input by the user, thereby changing said settings to settings that will make the device operate normally (column 8, lines 3-9 and column 10, lines 22-40).
